Driver advised that the gelding had a tendency to hang outwards prior to straightening despite his efforts and the when upon straightening elected to drive the horse with the inside rein at the same time of trying to restrain the horse back to its true line. After viewing the films, Stewards agreed that Mr Lewis had made every effort to keep the horse in its true line and took the matter no further.

A veterinary examination following the race revealed no abnormalities. John Jelf driver explained when questioned regarding his tactics, in particular after gaining a trailing position in the early stages commenced a three wide move to endeavour to improve his position by gaining the lead of the one wide line forward and when unable to do so due to the speed set by the leading group elected to stay in the three wide line rather than restrain to the rear, however failed to make ground and in hindsight considered that he erred in his driving tactics at that point.
